They are also one of the few groups that have survived, more or less intact after the war against the Nefandi, and one of the groups, which has had more presence in The Continent. Speculated as a world very affected by the ether, so much so that, its fog is capable of transforming the reality of other worlds. It is also known as a land of perpetual frost. Its position was the lowest among the worlds of Yggdrasil, though it does share a dimensional border with Muspelheim.

Nílf (Undod System) (destroyed)

Composition

Unlike other Grigori factions, which are much more closed due to the territory they own, they have come to incorporate among their members beings of other races. An example of this has been, for example, the Valkyries. Warriors (mainly human) and women, who have been rescued and transformed into part of the warrior elite of this faction. Dedicated mainly to the task of searching for the best warriors around the multiverse to incorporate them into the the ranks of Asgard. Giants, also appear as part of Odin's domain. Although more among the genes of his allies and relatives, due to his genetic experiments.
